Synopsis

The Department of Zoology, Balwant College, Vita organized an online guest lecture on 12th february 2026 for B.Sc. II students on the subject Agricultural Entomology. Total 12 participants attended lecture on google meet by providing link <https://meet.google.com/bcf-qrkx-emb>. The lecture was conducted through Google Meet by Dr. Anuradha Shinde, Assistant professor, Balwant College, Vita using ICT (Information and Communication Technology) tools to enhance the effectiveness of teaching and learning. The lecture was delivered using ICT tools such as PowerPoint presentations, digital images, and online interaction via Google Meet. The use of modern technology helped students to visualize insect structure and understand complex topics more effectively. The session was interactive, and students actively participated by asking questions and clarifying their doubts. The online platform ensured smooth communication and active engagement of students throughout the lecture.
